Subject: KALAKALA says goodbye today to conceding Seattle Mayor Greg Nickels and his graces for trying to save our waterfront history?!!:)

"There are pivotal moments when great cities make history. We will reconnect Seattle to the waters of Elliott Bay." Mayor Greg Nickels quote.

YAHOO! Perhaps, just perhaps, now one of our new Seattle Mayor candidates will see, what Nickels never did see, that great cities really do make history. Yes, and great cities fight to save their history. But, Mayor Nickels never wanted to see any of our Maritime History or even wanted to hear what a magnificent maritime legend is. I don't think he even knows how to say "KALAKALA". The past Mayor Nickels will now know what it's like to be forgotten forever in the future. But, the Kalakala still lives to see the future and be sharing her beauty with visitors onboard her at her old homeport home town and her Seattle waterfront.

Today, is a great day, and finally, soon, Nickels will be history, and it is a pivotal moment that was definitely worth waiting for since January 1, 2002!

The Kalakala is happy to say to Nickels, goodbye, and wishes that, perhaps one day, perhaps just one day in the near future, she will find that a new incoming Mayor truly loves making and managing our maritime history within our great City of Seattle!!!!
